Sydney Marshall
Grafton High School
Class of 2014

PROFILE

Sydney's Experiences at Grafton High School

Sydney's course of study included core academic content as well as one of her favorite electives- drama production. During her time at Grafton High School (GHS), Sydney participated in theatrical productions where she proudly served as a member of the props crew. She has fond memories of her experiences with The Jungle Book and Putnam Spelling Bee productions as well as competing in the Thespian Festival. When asked about the courses she has found most beneficial to her current employment, she reported history and English.

Post-secondary Education and Training

Sydney began her post-secondary education at Thomas Nelson Community College where she received an Associate's Degree. She is currently a senior at Old Dominion University where she will graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Interdisciplinary Studies.

Employment

Sydney has worked as a substitute with York County School Division which has provided teaching experience at all grade levels. She aspires to become an elementary school teacher in 2nd or 3rd grade.

Leisure/Recreational

When Sydney is not working or studying, she enjoys spending time at the beach, reading novels, and going to the movies.
